Judging criteria

The nomination must address the questions relevant to the individual or institution. This must be completed to be a valid nomination and will be assessed by the judges. When answering the questions, it is important to provide specific examples of how the nominee's long-term achievements, or significant contribution to, Queensland was/has been outstanding.

One's professional duties or role is not necessarily sufficient to be nominated. Where the achievement(s) and contribution(s) relate to the nominee's occupation, vocation or volunteer work, those achievements/contributions must be over and above what might be reasonably expected of another in a similar position. The mere performance of duties will not necessarily be sufficient to support a nomination.

If you are aware the nominee has previously been nominated for a Queensland Greats Award, it is recommended your nomination clearly explain the further work or highlight the key impacts and achievements that have been undertaken since the previous nomination.
